

Donald Trump pulls the US out of the Paris Agreement - now what?

The consequences for the work to reduce greenhouse gas emissions are equal to zero because no country has started the work. China and India will not start work until 2030. Norway is apparently well underway, but has reduced its emissions by only 5.6%. And when Norway's share of the world's total emissions is only 0.11%, you understand that Norway alone cannot solve the task.

Donald Trump has realized that, if you want to get something done, you need energy, so it is important to increase oil production, then you can catch the greenhouse gases afterwards!

Åneidu, it's probably not like that. If the USA is going to be "great again", then energy is needed and then you can't stop using oil! It's that simple. He's probably not stupid, that Trumpen!

Now we have just learned that the global temperature has risen by 1.6 degrees and that the 1.5 degree target was missed. Then you have the 2.0 degree target left. As far as Trump is concerned, he has left the Paris Agreement and obviously has no faith that it is worth the effort to try for the 2.0 degrees. The USA must also become "great again".

No, Trump does not want to reveal it, but he has probably found out that there is no point in cutting human emissions of greenhouse gases. It has no effect on climate! The scientific verification through observations is missing!
